"We have a very similar profile to Warp and through the years of working together, with titles such as This is England and Donkey Punch, it has become more and more natural to create a closer co operation", says Ignas Scheynius, CEO at NonStop Entertainment. "We find Warp X to be a very exciting new venture and are delighted to be a part of their future. It is also a big thing for NonStop Entertainment as we step into the producing field".

Mark Herbert, Joint MD of Warp X says "NonStop did such a great job on This is England, The box office results were fantastic and we worked closely with them throughout. I think both companies have a similar taste and vision for groundbreaking cinema and I can see the relationship moving into more joint ventures in production as well as distribution. In order for independent cinema to flourish we have to work with like minded, passionate people."
